

PIARA ARCHAEOLOGICAL FIELD SCHOOL AT HUALCAYAN, PERU

Analytical Methods in Bioarchaeology and Archaeology

Join PIARA this summer in highland Peru!

The PIARA field school is an intensive learning experience that provides training in a variety of archaeological methods including bioarchaeology, artifact analysis, GIS, and 3D photogrammetry. In 2020, students will analyze human remains and artifacts from monumental temple spaces and tombs at the ancient site of Hualcayán (2400 BC-AD 1450).

During the field season, participants will live in a Quechua-speaking indigenous community, travel to museums and archaeological sites, and receive 6 credits from the Universidad Nacional Santiago Antúnez de Mayolo. Visit our website for more details!
